Consolidation Of Schools To Be Considered

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—(U.P.)—Consolidation of California state school districts is contemplated in the county unit plan bill, which is expected to be presented to the state legislature Thursday.

The bill will probably be introduced by W. H. Baum, assemblyman from Los Angeles, and a test fight is expected when it comes out of committee.

Other important bills are slated to appear in both houses of the legislature at the same time, with the possibility of Governor C. C. Young's reorganization program being one of them.

'Didn't Hit Anyone' But Pays $200 Fine

MARTINEZ, Jan. 9—Even though Tom McCoy, Bay Point bartender, told inquirers last night that he "didn't hit anybody," he pleaded guilty to a charge of recklessness driving before Justice of the Peace Frank Glass this morning and was fined $200.

McCoy was arrested following an automobile collision at Pacheco boulevard and Cedar streets.

Joe Freitas of 322 Warren told a different tale to Deputy Sheriff R. A. McNamara, G. S. Sumner and Clyde Laird, who made an investigation. Freitas claimed that McCoy's car collided with his in a dense fog.

Dr. G. L. Coates, Jr., pronounced McCoy alcoholic after he failed to stay on a chalk line or pronounce "trick words" successfully.

A blind corner "is the driver's left rear corner." The penalty for drunken driving is "jail after reckless driving and plenty of trouble." Street cars and stages are the types of vehicles required by law to stop at all railroad crossings.

These are a few of the answers submitted by a driver or new car in today in making formal application for an operator's license. It is needless to say that Capt. George Bolton of the state traffic squad was so startled that the applicant was not even taken for a road test.

Double Hanging At Quentin March 22

WHY A NAVY

Our state and navy departments are following apparently conflicting programs. The word "apparently" is used advisedly for though their programs appear to conflict they really do no such thing. Secretary of State Kellogg promotes a treaty formally denouncing all war "as an instrument of national policy" but neither he nor anybody else that had anything to do with it thinks for one moment that it really abolishes war. So Secretary of the Navy Wilbur proceeds, as he should, to bolster up our warning power.

The public, however, is quite naturally puzzled. If war has been outlawed, it asks, why spend any more money on warships?

The uncomfortable truth, of course is that war outlawry does not abolish wars any more than crime outlawry abolishes crime.

We properly abhor war but as a people we must protect ourselves against such outlaw nations as might attack us. Our chief protection is our navy. To support a navy too weak to protect us against the biggest and strongest enemy that might attack us is worse than none at all. Our navy should be the equal of any or we should scrap it altogether.

Our policy should be to extend a standing invitation to the rest of the world to join us in armament reduction and limitation but it would be sheer folly for us to disarm and then invite the others to do likewise.

Our overseas interests—our foreign possessions, investments, shipping, trade and what not—are worth approximately $50,000,000,000. Creating this gives our workers a standard of living such as no other people in all the world ever enjoyed. Maintaining it and increasing it further will lift these standards to a still higher level, providing that we can continue to live on in peace. War would menace this whole structure upon which our prosperity is built. It is the navy's business to make us secure in our jobs.

If we are wise we will leave no stone unturned to advance the cause of peace. But we will not forget that the world is what it is, not what we would have it. —Pittsburgh Press.

MR. HOOVER IN EUROPE'S EYES

Americans may be pardoned a smile at some of the comments in the European press about Mr. Hoover. He is regarded as a benefactor and a menace, an idealist and a materialist, a sentimental and scientist—as anything, in short, which happens to fit in with the temper of the writer.

From France in particular, come strains of uneasiness lest Mr. Hoover prove a "nationalist." The presumption is that his critics there fear that he will fight vigorously for America's interest over against Europe. Just why they should expect him to do anything else is not clear. Certainly they do not condemn M. Poincare if he upholds France's interests, or Herr Stresemann when he defends Germany.

It is only fair to point out that some of the French never liked Mr. Hoover. They disapproved of his methods while he was food dictator. They distrusted his directness in dealing with the lesser states of Europe regardless of political interests. They resented his attitude on the war debts. It is not surprising therefore that they do not view his election with any particular elation. But if to be an American nationalist is to be something dangerous, Mr. Hoover will have to plead guilty to the charge.

Rev. Dr. Malcolm James MacLeod criticizes Mr. Hoover for making his trip on a warship and says that a Quaker on a dreadnaught is very much like a cannon in a parlor. Wonder if the good Doctor ever heard of that peaceful Quaker Mad Anthony Wayne

Students at Cambridge university in England decided by a vote of 217 to 84 that the United States is not a menace to the best interests of the world. Thanks for the buggy ride.

BEAUTY

Have you neglected to use your eye cup recently?

You must remember how important it is to both the eyes and to keep them as clean as you would any other part of the body. The eyes are very sensitive and easily infected and when you step to think of the dust, dirt and smoke that you come into contact with daily, you will understand how necessary it is to bathe them frequently.

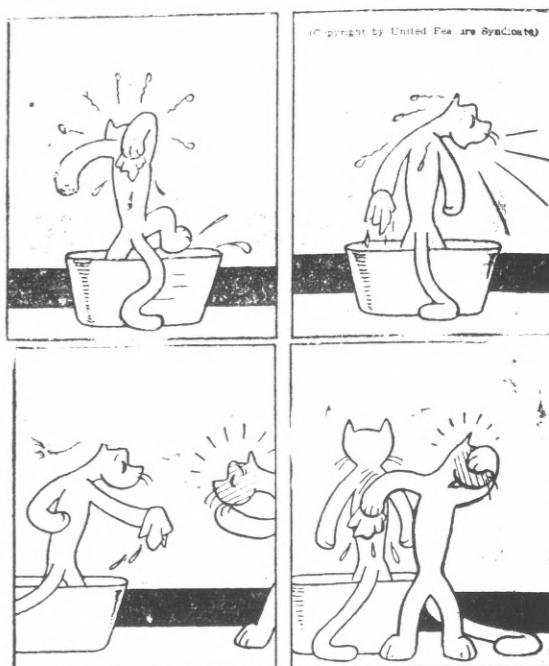

An eye-cup should be kept very clean of course. Before going to bed, make a solution of baking soda and use this to bathe and refresh the eyes. If you don't already do it, you'll be surprised how it rests and brightens the eyes.

Lovely eyes can do as much as anything to make a woman attractive. If her eyes are dull and heavy and surrounded by dried, wrinkled skin she can never be beautiful.

If you use your eyes a great deal remember that they deserve a rest period now and then. When

Flu Epidemic Is Creating Record Demand for Vicks

The present output of more than 432,000 jars every 24 hours is needed to keep the nation supplied with Vapor-Salve.

Flu Milder But Widespread

The demand for Vicks VapoRub, the vaporizing salve which proved so valuable during the 1918 epidemic, has already shattered by a wide margin all previous records.

Although the capacity of Vicks laboratories has been tripled since 1918 they are once more operating night shifts to meet the national emergency.

The present output of more than 432,000 jars a day almost staggers the imagination. It means that every 60 seconds, day and night, over 3600 jars of Vicks are going out to check the nation's colds and help ward off the flu.

Mild though it is in comparison with 1918, this year's epidemic has already affected more than a million Calif.

It is a modern, well-constructed building, designed to provide the most comfortable and pleasant surroundings for the audience. The interior is spacious and airy, with ample room for the audience to move about freely. The seats are comfortable and well-padded, providing a perfect place for viewing the pictures. The lighting is excellent, and the sound system is of the latest type, ensuring clear and distinct sound reproduction. The new theater is a welcome addition to the city's entertainment facilities, and will doubtless prove popular with the residents of the surrounding areas.

With the opening of the new theater, the city has added another attraction to its already well-known list of entertainments.

The new theater, located on the corner of 12th and 13th Streets, is the largest in the city, seating 1,500 persons. It is a modern, well-constructed building, designed to provide the most comfortable and pleasant surroundings for the audience. The interior is spacious and airy, with ample room for the audience to move about freely. The seats are comfortable and well-padded, providing a perfect place for viewing the pictures. The lighting is excellent, and the sound system is of the latest type, ensuring clear and distinct sound reproduction. The new theater is a welcome addition to the city's entertainment facilities, and will doubtless prove popular with the residents of the surrounding areas.

Clara Makes Friends In New Film

She’s done it again! Clara Bow, the “madam of the screen,” has everybody gasping with her latest screen sensation “Three Week Ends.” It’s from the pen of Elinor Glyn and, to judge by the audience reaction, it will witness its first performance during the week. It’s the girl who has won the admiration of the children in theater, the mother of the “big bows” in the picture world and motion picture audiences with her daring posture, vivacity and wit. She seems to be the climax for dramatic performances. And it was said “Three Week Ends” burst upon the screen. The Bow personality steps one off her seat and sets thousands of little girls tingling that never tingled before.

Clara spends many days in a bathing suit winning the penniless insurance salesman whom she mistakes for a “big shot.” Just watch her snub the “big butted and egg-faced” boy for a look this Romeo. It’s a bold and witty comedy. From romantic Broadway, Neil Hamilton, Harrison Ford, Julia Swayne Gordon and a bewitching little “new” girl Lucille Powers, are in the cast.

Carrie Fisher, the “miracle man” of “It” and the second Bow, is here too, and another model for “Paramount’s greatest actress.”

And the special moviegoer attraction Van and Schenck, famous vaudeville headliners singing their best song hits, together with a good comedy news and other attractions rounds out a good bill.

RAINY WEATHER RETARDING MOKELUMNE WATER PROJECT UTILITY DIRECTORS TOLD

To the Honorable Board of Directors:

On the rainy day of December 21, 1928, the repairing of the pipe line has been completed.

The inside caulked and plastered of the joints is progressing, and the line will be ready for testing within a few weeks. The Sequoia line is about 87 percent complete and about the same percentage of the time elapsed.

On the Wildcat line the pipe laying had during December, 1928, feet of 48 inch pipe, bringing the total on that line up to 1744 feet.

Two machines are at work on the contract in Berkeley. On the Plaza tunnel 297 feet were excavated during December, leaving 300 feet still to be excavated. The Wildcat line as a whole is 40 percent completed and 56 percent of the time has elapsed.

On the Claremont tunnel the contractors have been encountering less water and the heading has been fairly dry. There is still a discharge of 2100 gallon per minute which is being derived. All work is being done from the west heading by Dereverin thin heading advanced 387 feet leaving 200 feet still to excavate. At this rate the excavation will be finished before the end of January after which concrete lining can be pushed. This tunnel is about 75 percent completed and the time elapsed is 98 percent.

Study of Dam

The field construction has been retarded somewhat by rainy weather, but on the whole, good progress was made on the water supply system.

On the Sequoia aqueduct the Rock Joint pipe company laid 2661 feet of 48 inch pipe and 133 feet of 34 inch pipe. There are still 464 feet of 31 inch pipe and 130 feet of 28 inch pipe to lay on the Sequoia aqueduct to complete the pipe laying on the Sequoia line. The building of structures and repairing are following closely behind this work and in Piedmont the designees have been continued work on the preparation of details for the guidance of contractors doing construction work upon designs for the proposed

Sacramento and Rockridge reservoirs.

Work has been continued on the measurments of the Mokelumne river and its tributaries and of the ground water in the Mokelumne valley.

Reservoirs Low

The water in the Teesdale reservoir, 39,000,000 gallons, is only slightly above the outlet, but the runoff from this creek is Richmond, Contra Costa and Petaluma.

It is expected to exceed the draft, and the remainder of the winter, in the Richmond office.

Other offices of the company are Redwood, Chabot and San Pablo.

The water is now bearing the deviation of the outlet, and unless the catchment is not too full, the head will be raised.

It is necessary in a short time to install pumping plants at the reservoir to raise the water to the level of the outlet. A run at or above normal will, however, obviate this necessity and with good fortune these difficulties can be avoided.

The loss in storage during the month of December was 298,000,000 gallons.

But this monthly loss should gradually decline if the season is normal.

Respectfully submitted,

Arthur P. Davis,

Chief Engineer and General Manager.

The local reservoir contained on Dec. 31, 1928, 6,081,836,000 gallons of water, and at that time the supply being taken from the reservoir was approximately 47-

170,000 gallons per day, and that from wells and tunnels 14,000 gallons per day, making a total of 27,900,000 gallons per day from both sources. At the same date last year there were 8,552,326,000

TEX RICKARD'S BATTLE TO LEADERSHIP IN WORLD OF SPORT FULL OF INTEREST

This story is based upon facts obtained by Kirksey up to the time of Rickard's illness, and all information gathered from many parts of the country and men and women who knew Rickard from boyhood, including his 81-year-old mother in Seattle, who contributed largely to the first chapter.

The story is copyrighted by the United Press associations.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Sports Writer

"He was my son."

It was said of Tex Rickard by many men in carpet walks of life, by cowboys and millionaires, prize fighters and society men, but it remained for his 81-year-old mother when he learned of his death, to plumb the depth of the sincerity of his extraordinary character by saying:

"George was my pal."

"The man who rode a trail to fortune from the ranches of the far west to the heights of showmanship and unparalleled success as a promoter was christened George Lewis to me," she said.

But the world claimed him as its own "Tex" and the dignified, white-haired old lady, who now lives in Seattle, shrugged her frail shoulders and admitted with a smile that contained both pride and stubbornness:

"I guess he was very important to the world, but he was just George," and my pal to me."

Rickard's parents were somethings in Illinois. His father was a half-breed and the family migrated to Kansas, where Tex's father built the first fully completed mill in the state. Rickard often talked of this. It was characteristic of the man that he took the same straight forward pride in simple things of typically American life that he did in his most spectacular achievement as a showman.

George Lewis Rickard, then, was born Jan. 18, 1879. The date of his birth has been misinterpreted due usually to a prevailing tendency to lop a few years from the toll taken by time from prominent characters.

Rickard himself was uncertain in later years as to the exact place of his birth. He always gave it as Kansas City, but one explained:

"Well, it was outside Kansas city in a place called White Church, Kan. But I always just claimed Kansas City."

Boyhood Exciting

Boyhood for Tex was far from dull. Jesse James' mother lived near the Rickards, and one day shortly after Tex was born, a posse invaded the neighborhood hunting for the bandit and his brother Frank. There was a "tight smart lot of shooting," Rickard always said afterwards, aiming his bow to the sound of fire arms.

And until death stilled his native, indomitable spirit, there was always a "tight smart lot of excitement" where Rickard was around. When Tex was 4 years old, the family moved to Texas and settled in the state which later was to provide his nickname.

"Where you from, buddy?" a fellow asked Rickard as they were steaming up to Klondike for the great gold rush in '98.

"Earns Nickname," Tex said, replying Rickard, who became "Tex" from that time on.

The Rickard family settled in Sherman, Tex., in 1875, but moved frequently from place to place as the father followed his trade of in-talling mills.

It was at the age of 6 according to his mother, that Tex had his first experience with fighting.

The boy came home from Sunday school one day, his best clothes torn and dusty, his face beaten and bruised.

"How did this happen, son?" his father asked him.

"George had been told never to fight, and hadn't defended himself when an older boy attacked him," explained the late promoter's aged mother in recalling the incident.

When his father heard that he reversed his instruction, he gave George a whipping any way telling him he should have another every time he didn't defend himself.

Obedience Told

"After that George never got any more spankings."

Today Mrs. J. L. Adams, Tex's mother, recalls this with pride as an example of his boyhood obedience.

While the Rickards were living at Cambridge, Tex., the promoter's father died, leaving Tex with quite a job on his hands for a boy of 11 that of contributing materially to the support of a widowed mother, two brothers and three sisters.

Mrs. Rickard subsequently moved to Henrietta, where Tex received a little schooling when not riding cowponies and doing odd jobs around the ranches.

Cowboy In 'Teens

Before he was out of his teens Tex took the long trips up the North trail, with many head of cattle for Montana. In 1886, he rode with an outfit which wintered 16,000 head in three herds in that state.

When spring came, less than 1,000 cattle had survived the

LOCAL QUINTET WINS FIRST CONTEST

The Corgiat Tires in the P. A. League defeated the San Francisco Shopping News 28 to 17 in a fast and furious game in the St. Mary's gymnasium recently.

The Corgiat Tires squad includes a number of boys who play on the Beech Mallik quintet here, Louie Dyer of Richmond and Street divided high point honors. Street got 10 points and Dyer got eight. Ernie Parbieri of Richmond made four points and Tamm, also of Richmond, made one point.

This was the first game of the P. A. League and was witnessed by a large crowd. The Tires are in the 145 pound division and are favorites for the championship in that division.

SPORTING CLUB FAVERS DUCK HUNT BAN

At another time, 11 cowboys started north from the Panhandle to Omaha with 3,500 steers. Tex being the youngest of the group. On the morning after the first day's travel, an exhausted calf was found with the herd, sunk on its haunches. Rickard adopted the calf, named it "Sitting Bull" and saw it safely to Omaha. That calf gave Tex a lot of trouble on its wanderings, but he would always get it safely back to the herd.

One of Rickard's favorite yarns of his youth was about the calf. "I used to ask the other boys so often if they had been 'Sitting Bull' that they called me no 'Sitting Bull' myself for a long time afterwards," Tex would recount.

Friends Rob Stage

The afternoon that the herd stirred up the dust of Omaha's Main street, Tex met three young men whom he knew slightly. They had a plan on foot to rob a mail coach and proposed that Rickard join them.

"I ain't goin', but I didn't see no mail coach," Tex retorted. "A posse killed two of those fellas and the third was hanged later on."

Rickard continued to "punch rows" until he was 22, and may have made a reputation for bluntness for removal from that of lawlessness. For two years later in 1894 he was elected city marshal of Henrietta, Tex.

Tomorrow's chapter will deal with Rickard's first marriage and his journeys north in quest of gold.

PIENDS AND NEIGHBORS SURPRISED BY MY QUICK RECOVERY

San Jose, Cal. Nov. 13, 1928
To Whom It May Concern:

For some time past I suffered with nervous attacks similar to St. Vitus Dance. My speech was so affected that I could scarcely speak. Unfortunate stood by my heart. Heartalist best and most

I tried every method of healing known to me in vain. Then I was recommended to try the Fong Wan Herbs. Now, after but two weeks of treatment, I am perfectly well.

Friends and neighbors as well as the man who formerly treated me are all surprised at my recovery in almost no time. All quite as to whose skill has brought me such wonderful and quick relief.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Charles O'Donnell, being held in custody here today charged with having attempted a snuff on Miss Beatrice Ferguson, 18, 1146 Ellis street. A companion is being sought by the police.

She observed that two men set upon her, tore her clothes and beat her in an attempted attack. She was rescued by an unidentified man who heard her screams.
